

Accredited by ESTA, The Energy Services and Technology Association, based on content, quality, delivery and 3rd party references.

Level 1 Training: Energy Awareness at Work

An introduction to energy suitable for all employees to raise awareness in their own working environment.

About Level 1

Your organisation's employees can be your most powerful asset in achieving and sustaining energy and cost savings. Training encourages and empowers staff to take ownership of implementing energy saving opportunities identified.

JRP Solutions' structured Energy Awareness Training Programme has four levels of training to suit different organisations' requirements.

Level 1 is a two hour course suitable for all employees, delivered in a classroom session and is ideal for incorporating into induction programmes for new staff. The Level 1 course has been approved by the Energy Managers Association and Energy and Utility Skills (EUSR), a certification body that registers a wide range of training courses. On successful completion of the course trainees will, if required, be able to gain a certificate and qualification registered with EUSR. The course objective is to really engage and motivate delegates to take personal responsibility for reducing energy consumption and to change their behaviours.

Course Content

- Introduction to energy
- Energy use, how it affects the cost of running a business and the effect on our environment
- What is meant by energy and carbon emissions
- How does the workplace and job affect energy use
- What is energy
- Why should we be concerned about energy use
- Why are CO2 emissions harmful
- How does energy use cause CO2 emissions

- What are the UK CO2 emissions
- What is the UK electrical generation split
- Explanation of coal, natural gas and electricity supplies to the UK
- Where exactly does our energy come from
- Energy prices and breakdown
- Relative costs of electricity, natural gas and transportation
- Practical evaluation of energy use and energy cost through the example of how do you efficiently make a cup of tea

Course Summary

- The 2 hours course allows the tutor to relate course material to the delegate's own working environment and to expand on relevant points as required.
- Suitable for all employees, no previous knowledge or experience required.
- An Independently recognised qualification in energy awareness by Energy and Utility Skills.
- Delegates attending this training course will be able to download a CPD certificate upon successful completion of the course.
- Accredited by ESTA

For prices, please ring 0800 6127 567 or email info@jrpsolutions.com with details of delegate numbers.

www.jrpsolutions.com

Tel: 0800 6127 567

Twitter: @jrpsolutions

E: info@jrpsolutions.com

JRPsolutions
The Energy Specialists