

“The AFE staff found this course of immense value and it helped the company meet its objectives and reduce energy costs”. Tim Smith, The AFE Group.

Case Study

Client: AFE Group

Services provided: JRP’s Be Energy eLearning programme

Industry: Professional cooking, bakery and refrigeration equipment manufacturing

Benefits achieved: Provided an energy focus for AFE Group, raised awareness of energy and related matters at work and at home, assisted with maintaining ISO 50001 certification and implementation of ESOS best practice recommendations.

Summary

The AFE Group, which comprises Williams Refrigeration, Falcon Foodservice, Mono Equipment, Millers Vanguard and Serviceline, appointed JRP Solutions to deliver energy awareness via eLearning to key staff in the group. The objective was to raise awareness and engagement in the Group to support the vital work of the site Energy Wardens.

E-learning was considered to be the most flexible, efficient and cost-effective way to raise energy awareness and increase engagement. AFE Group chose the Be Energy programme because they were impressed by the content, professionalism and the relevance of the key learning points.

The 1 hour programme was rolled out of in four tranches to an average of 40 users in each tranche, totalling 160 delegates, over 5 months.

The programme includes a section at the end with questions that are designed to aid recall of the content. Delegates who did not answer all questions correctly were given the opportunity to re-take the programme, and each delegate correctly answering the questions received a pass certificate.

The course was designed and hosted by JRP who managed the programme delivery on behalf of AFE.

Results

JRP provided weekly updates on progress and a summary at the end, with pass marks and certificates issued.

Be Energy was very well received by users and some extremely positive feedback was given.

“Very practical and insightful e learning”

“A well laid out and informative course”

“Invaluable learning for every energy user!”

“Really enjoyed the course!”

“Clear concise intuitive course”

“The course is very informative, presented well and has given good energy saving ideas”

“The course gave me something to think about”

“Easy to follow and understand. The hour goes quickly.”

“Good eye opener on different ways of saving energy at home and work”.

“Thought provoking!”

For more information about using Be Energy to raise engagement and awareness in your organisation, ring 0800 6127 567 or email info@jrpsolutions.com.